Press Release

Altus to Expand with New Head Quarters

Altus Group's success and growth continues with the announcement of a new purpose-built facility which is confirmed to open in 2019 helping to serve its rapidly increasing customer base.

The leading supplier of capital equipment in the UK and Ireland is outgrowing its current headquarters in Stockwood, Worcestershire and has invested in a 404 sq. m building in Redditch which will be open in early 2019.

"We are delighted to announce that we will have a brand new purpose-built HQ to start 2019 in style," said Richard Booth, Altus managing director. "Due to the continued expansion of our client base, number of engineers in our team, and product portfolio; we have taken the opportunity to upgrade our facilities to better support our activities in the UK. It will help us serve customers from one large, efficient and centralised facility which is located logistically very close to the M40 for easy accessibility.

"Altus is the fastest growing UK electronics distribution business and we are proud to say that we will now have a location to match our current and future ambitions. We feel this growth is due to the unrivalled support we offer all of our partners and our investment in engineering talent.

"Further to the 'on the road support', the new facility will be focused around a fully kitted demonstration facility and training room in order to run thorough evaluations and training for Altus Group Ltd, Unit 9, Stockwood Business Park, Stockwood, Near Redditch, Worcestershire, B96 6SX

Editor's Notes:

Altus Group Ltd

Altus Group was formed in 2001 to support the UK and Irish market for Surface Mount Technology, capital equipment for every process, peripheral equipment, spares and consumables and most importantly excellent service support.

The Altus Group product line has evolved over the years with carefully selected suppliers who offer 'best in class' products at cost effective prices, from world leading brands.

The Altus Team has a network of highly skilled technical sales specialists, applications and service engineers, providing local support across the UK and Ireland.

In 2005 sister company Danutek was formed with offices in Hungary and Romania to service the needs of local customers and multi-national companies with manufacturing facilities in the Central and Eastern European marketplace.
