CE3S Offers Free ESD Assessments, Training & Development

HARRISBURG, PA — September 2024 — Cumberland Electronics Strategic Supply Solutions (CE3S), your strategic sourcing, professional solutions and distribution partner, is proud to announce the expansion of its Electrostatic Discharge (ESD) solutions. The company offers a complete range of products and services to ensure businesses can maintain static-free environments and protect sensitive electronic components.

The ESD portfolio from CE3S includes everything from shielding bags, ESD monitors, wrist straps, and heel grounders, to advanced ionization, testing equipment, and ESD event detection devices and software. These offerings are designed to safeguard sensitive technology, ensuring companies meet the highest standards of quality and reliability while protecting their investment in cutting-edge components.

CE3S not only provides industry-standard ESD materials, but also offers custom packaging options, ESD labeling, workstation cleaning solutions, grounding, and comprehensive training and consultation services. The focus is on helping businesses design and maintain robust ESD control programs that comply with ANSI/ESD S20.20 standards and other industry requirements.

“Our ESD solutions not only prevent damage to sensitive electronic components but also provide cost savings through reduced rework, scrap, and warranty claims,” said Jeremy Wagner, President of CE3S. “By expanding our ESD product offerings and services, we help businesses maintain the highest quality and safety standards, giving them a significant competitive advantage.”

CE3S offers Complimentary ESD Assessments, Training, Program Consultation & Development to customers within its coverage areas, helping to ensure optimal electrostatic discharge protection and compliance.
