CE3S Begins the New Year with Expanded Supply Chain and Production Support Solutions for Electronics Manufacturers

HARRISBURG, PA — February 2026 — Cumberland Electronics Strategic Supply Solutions (CE3S), your strategic sourcing, professional solutions and distribution partner, is starting the new year by reinforcing its role as a full-service partner for electronics manufacturers, offering production supplies, inventory programs, and value-added services designed to simplify operations and keep production moving.

At the center of CE3S's offering is its Production Supply Store, an online platform featuring more than 20,000 products used across electronics manufacturing environments. The catalog includes ESD protection products, soldering and rework tools, inspection and visualization equipment, chemicals and cleaners, wire and cable, and everyday production supplies that support assembly, testing, and packaging operations.

Beyond product access, CE3S provides Vendor Managed Inventory (VMI) programs that help manufacturers reduce excess stock, improve material availability, and lower administrative overhead. By managing replenishment, forecasting, and point-of-use inventory, CE3S allows customers to focus on production rather than purchasing and stock control.

CE3S also supports customers with a range of value-added services, including kitting, custom labeling and packaging, cable assemblies, laser cutting, and third-party logistics. These services are designed to reduce internal labor requirements while improving consistency and turnaround time on the production floor.

Additional offerings include ECOclaim recycling solutions to help manufacturers responsibly manage waste streams, as well as strategic account and government procurement support tailored to regulated and high-reliability industries.

“Manufacturers are under constant pressure to do more with less — less space, less labor, and less time,” said Jeremy Wagner, President and CEO at CE3S. “Our goal is to make the supply side easier, whether that means having the right tools on hand, simplifying inventory, or taking work off our customers’ plates so they can stay focused on production.”

As manufacturers look ahead to the year, CE3S continues to expand its solutions to meet changing production and supply chain demands, positioning itself as a single source for the tools, services, and support needed to operate efficiently and reliably.
