Libra Industries Joins the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) to Advance American Manufacturing

DAYTON, OH — April 2025 — Libra Industries, a leading provider of systems integration and electronics manufacturing services (EMS), is pleased to announce its new membership with the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), the largest and most influential manufacturing trade association in the United States.

NAM represents over 14,000 member companies, including small manufacturers and Fortune 100 companies, across every industrial sector. NAM works to promote the success of manufacturers by advocating for pro-business policies, enhancing workforce development, and driving innovation in the industry.

Through this partnership, Libra Industries will have the opportunity to engage with industry leaders, influence manufacturing policy, and participate in strategic initiatives to strengthen American manufacturing.

"Becoming a member of NAM reflects Libra Industries' commitment to supporting and growing the U.S. manufacturing sector," said Andrew Williams, CEO of Libra Industries. "Manufacturing is the backbone of our economy, and through NAM, we aim to drive innovation, strengthen the supply chain, and create new opportunities for growth. We are excited to collaborate with NAM's extensive network to help shape the future of American manufacturing."

As a NAM member, Libra Industries will have access to valuable resources, including advocacy support, industry insights, and leadership opportunities. This partnership will enable Libra to stay at the forefront of industry trends and strengthen its ability to deliver world-class manufacturing solutions.
