TRI Chairman Named in Harvard Business Review's "2026 Taiwan Top 100 Best-Performing Business Leaders"

[August 18, 2026 – Taipei, Taiwan] Test Research, Inc. (TRI), the leading provider of test and inspection systems, announces that Chen Chieh-Yuan, Founder and Chairman of Test Research, Inc. (TWSE: 3030), has once again been selected for the "2026 Taiwan Top 100 Best-Performing Business Leaders" by the Traditional Chinese edition of the Harvard Business Review, ranking 64th on the top 100 list. This demonstrates his outstanding leadership achievements in long-term corporate management, continuous innovation, and steady growth.

Since its founding in 1989, Chairman Chen Chieh-Yuan has led TRI to continuously deepen its inspection and testing technologies, actively invest in research and development innovation, and expand into application fields such as semiconductors, advanced packaging, and electronics manufacturing. This selection is not only a recognition of Chairman Chen Chieh-Yuan's long-term leadership and management achievements, but it also highlights TRI's efforts in continuous innovation, corporate value creation, and the implementation of sustainable management.

In the future, TRI will continue to uphold the core philosophies of innovation, quality, and sustainable management, deepen its optical inspection and testing technologies, and actively grasp industry development trends such as AI, smart manufacturing, semiconductors, and advanced packaging. The company will continuously enhance the competitiveness of its products and services, and work hand in hand with global customers and partners to create long-term value, striding toward becoming a world-leading provider of smart inspection solutions.
